

Reducing Droop In a Reference Signal Provided to ADCs

Abstract

An aspect of the present invention reduces droop in the reference signal provided to ADCs. A compensation resistor of appropriate resistance value is provided in the path of the reference signal to minimize the droop.